Thanks for this information. I will let Nick and Janice know. The eradication of creeping water primrose is not something I would look to condition - more appropriate to deal with through informative note.

Mike,

In the consultation responses from both Nick Crouch and Nottinghamshire Wildlife Trust they have made reference to the fact that Creeping Water Primrose is present on the Bilsthorpe Business Park site (but not the application site).

Peel have raised this matter with the landowner and below is some internal correspondence confirming that they are looking into its eradication.

I would be grateful if you could advise them that this is in hand. Probably best to not send the internal e-mail.

Regards

Nottinghamshire Wildlife Trust have in their inspection of the Bilsthorpe Peel site found creeping water primrose. Apparently this a highly invasive species which should be eradicated urgently. Would you be able to have someone have a look at this, probably in all our interests to have it removed.

Eddie
