

PRIORITY SCHOOLS BUILDING PROGRAMME

The Priority Schools Building Programme (PSBP) was launched by the Coalition government following the abolition of the previous government's Building Schools for the Future Programme. It focusses on replacing the country's worst school buildings and bids were invited from Local Authorities and Academy Trusts in October 2011. The County Council submitted strong bids and were the most successful authority with 12 schools and academies to be replaced. Separate bids made by the South Nottinghamshire Academy and Serlby Park Academy (where NCC remains the freeholder) were also successful.

PSBP is being delivered by the capital arm of the DfE's agency The Education Funding Agency (EFA), and the County Council are working closely with the EFA and their design team to support NCC schools and ensure that all the projects progress smoothly with the least disruption possible. The projects have been split into 3 batches.

Midlands 2	East Midlands 2	Nottinghamshire
Fountaindale Special School	Brierley Forest Primary	Abbey Primary
	John Davies Primary	Annie Holgate Infant & Junior (new single Primary)
	Leamington Primary Academy	Flying High Academy at Ladybrook
	Lynncroft Primary	The Newark Academy
	Sunnyside Primary	The Wainwright Primary Academy
	South Nottinghamshire Academy	Serlby Park Academy

The project to replace Fountaindale Special School is partially complete; the new building was handed over in October this year, the existing school is currently being demolished and external works and landscaping will follow.

The other two batches are running concurrently. The Newark Academy is the sample school for the Nottinghamshire batch and has recently been granted planning permission. The EFA has selected two contractors from their Framework for each batch, Kier for the Nottinghamshire batch, and Bowmer & Kirkland for the East Midlands 2 batch.
