

Features: Located to the west of the City Centre, Wollaton Park is an easily accessed green space that offers:-

- The Sensory Garden within the Hall Gardens is the result of a partnership between Nottingham City Council and the Boots Company. Specifically designed for people with visual impairments, although everyone can enjoy the peace, beauty and tranquility it has to offer.
- Formal gardens and historic parkland with deer roaming through grounds.
- The Courtyard stables house a museum, café and toilets, which are wheelchair accessible.

Opening Times:

- The park is open from 9am to dusk, all year round.
- For opening times of the museum and hall, please telephone (0115) 915 3911/00.

Location:

- Main entrance and car parks from Wollaton Road. O.S. Street Atlas ref. page 171, F2.
- Buses: Telephone Buses Hotline 0870 608 2608.

Paths and gates:

- Access to the Hall gardens and The Sensory Garden is easiest through the gate to the left of the Hall.
- Most of the park is level apart from the hill on which the Hall sits, with gradients of (2) to (4).
- Paths are made of tarmac (A) or compacted stone (B) and are suitable for most wheelchairs and scooters.
- Boundary gates indicated on the map with the symbol are difficult for individuals in wheelchairs to open due to the need for them to restrict deer.
- Wheelchair access to the Hall itself is by a stair climbing machine and may involve a transfer to a manual wheelchair. Telephone (0115) 915 3911/00.
