- Unsure but it is important to make it clear that we would rather that any sparsity funding is not split between schools - as a small school it would make such a difference to us
- "Where are the additional funds coming from?"
- It would be really worthwhile being able to present this in a simple format to staff and governors - that is a Q I know they would ask."
- The IDACI bands and values attached don't reflect the actual the significant difference in need for pupils in Band A compared to Band F. In my own school we have children in Band A who need so many more resources and support than those in other bands. With the levelling up agenda it is crucial that resources are allocated where the real need is and not just a bit extra top up for the majority.
