

Working for us: what we do

This easy read document tells you about the things we do at Nottinghamshire County Council.

What we do

At Nottinghamshire County Council we provide a wide of services to the people of Nottinghamshire

We help people throughout their lives, from registering the birth of a baby through to supporting people at school, adulthood and registering a death.

Serving a population of nearly 800,000, the council supply care for children, adults and those with special needs

The services we offer include:

- Education

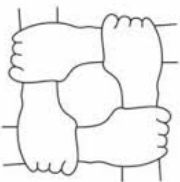

- Transport and roads

- Waste and recycling

Council departments

All of our work is carried out through four main council departments or teams:

- Adult Social Care and Health
- Children and Families
- Chief Executive
- Place

Some of the work these departments do is explained on the next few pages.

Adult Social Care and Health

The Adult Social Care and Health team offers help, information and support to people with physical disabilities, mental health needs and learning disabilities.

Children and Families

The children and Families team brings together a range of services for children, young people and their families.

The department has a mix of services, that are for vulnerable children, families and communities

Chief Executive's

The Chief Executive's team brings together roles which help and set up for services and activities across the county council.

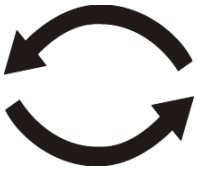

The Chief Executive's team has six groups:

- Communication, marketing and document services

- Finance and procurement

- Transformation and change

- Information and communications technology

- Business services centre and business support

- Customers and human resources

- Legal, democratic and complaints

Place

The Place team delivers a range of services to create places that the people of Nottinghamshire need and want.

The Place team has two groups:

- The Investment and growth team pushes growth and success of the county, including economic progress, rebirth, land and money, planning and development management.
- The Company and place team works to make Nottinghamshire a great place to be.

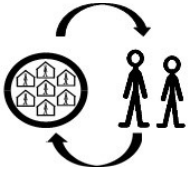

It does this by working in areas including:

- Waste
- Highways

- Transport

- Voluntary and community support

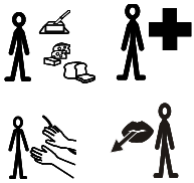

- Cultural services

- Trading standards

- Emergency planning

- Community safety

- Birth, death and marriage registration
